

Your experience, our innovation!

Over 40 years of experience in the production of 100%
Made in Italy electromedical equipment

Who we are

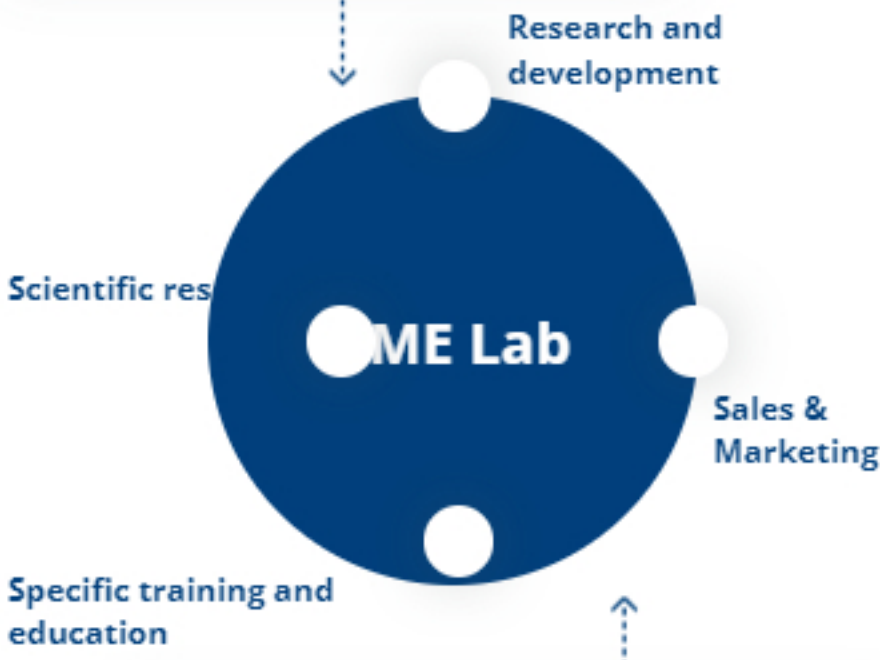

EME Lab

A perfect synergy to increase our know-how and pass it on to our partners.

The Research and Development department is our beating heart. It processes the input received from end users to develop new products and improve existing ones, to optimally respond to market needs by offering advanced solutions.

Our team of engineers, in fact, continuously collaborates with Universities, Polyclinics, doctors and professionals in the sector to intercept new trends and innovative systems to improve the quality of life of our customers.

EME Lab is the philosophy that permeates all our activities. The four pillars that support it are:

The interaction between these four elements allows us to increase our know-how and our ability to transfer it externally.

EME Workshop

modular and combined technology

radial shock wave